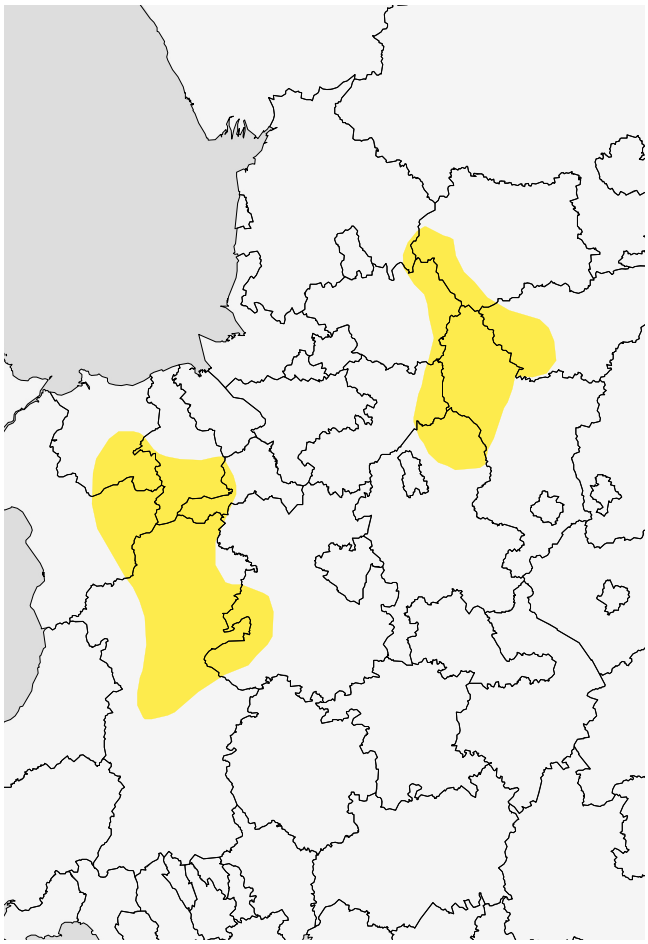
Yellow warning
Snow

Between
18:00 Sun 3 Dec 2023 and
12:00 Mon 4 Dec 2023



Snow accumulating on higher parts of Wales and northern England may lead to some localised disruption

What to expect

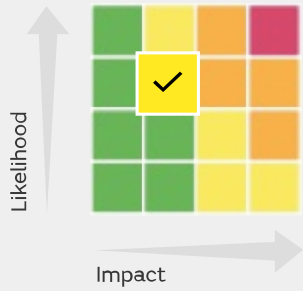
- Some roads and railways likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services

Further details

Rain will likely fall as snow to relatively low levels for a time this evening and at first tonight across parts of northern England, giving a few cms of additional cover locally.

Snow should become confined to the higher parts of northern and central Wales, as well as northern England with time, leading to accumulations of 2-5 cm on some roads above around 150 m, and perhaps 10-15 cm on roads above around 350 m. Snow will die out from the north through Monday.

What should I do?



✓ Medium likelihood of low impacts

Snowy, wintry weather can cause delays and make driving conditions dangerous. Keep yourself and others safe by planning your route, giving yourself extra time for your journey. Check for road closures or delays to public transport and amend plans if necessary.

If driving, make sure you have some essentials in your car in the event of any delays (e.g., warm clothing, food, water, a blanket, a torch, ice scraper/de icer, a warning triangle, high visibility vest and an in-car phone charger).

Be prepared for weather warnings to change quickly: when a weather warning is issued, the Met Office recommends staying up to date with the weather forecast in your area.
